UP YOUR GLAM ANTE WITH THIS SUPER-EASY STYLE.

Don't be fooled by its ravishing looks and air of unattainability — this style is all about the illusion of styling expertise. It's a little Hollywood glam — but with a modern edge — and is the perfect style for formal, parties or, well, just coz you want to look freakin' fantastic. Tanya Nelson, National Educator for Dateline Imports, shows us how to get it.

The part about prep

As with all good styles, it's best to work with day-old hair. However, if you're a wash-a-day girl, you'll need to apply a foundation product (like mousse) to towel-dried hair to give the style hold.

Step One

Now for the fun part: getting your glam on. "If your hair is freshly-washed, blow-dry it completely dry using a paddle brush [for smoothness]," says Tanya. Make sure the nozzle points down the hair shaft to avoid flyaways. Then create a deep side part on one side of your head. The closer to the ear, the more dramatic the overall effect.

Step Two

Starting at the bottom back section of the head, take a 2.5cm section of hair, lightly spray with hair spray, then wrap it around the curling iron. For the first row of sections, wrap hair over and around the wand. "Let the hair come off the iron and, while it is still warm, recoil up towards the scalp and secure with a bobby pin," says Tanya. This will help hold the shape of the curl.

Step Three

Continue in rows up the head, towards the crown. Alternate every second row by wrapping from underneath the tong and around, then pinning in place. "When all of the hair has completely cooled down, take out each bobby pin [that was holding the curls] and let them hang loose," says Tanya. Then, using the paddle brush, very lightly brush through the curls to separate (you can also use your fingers).

Next, pull the hair from the side part to around the back of the head until it rests on your opposite shoulder. Use a couple of bobby pins to hold in place, and then spritz with hair spray to set and hold the look. Smooth down any flyaways with a smidge of Argan Oil, then go forth and break some hearts — you glamorous, you.
